This page is your ticket. Please print it out and bring it to the performance.

WE'RE SO GLAD YOU'RE JOINING US.

Please check your tickets and make sure they're exactly what you ordered. If not, please email us right away at tickets@sfballet.org or call 415 865 2000 Monday through Friday, 10 am to 4 pm. On performance days, phones are open from 10 am until the evening performance begins.

Bringing Children to the Ballet

A live ballet performance is most enjoyable for children eight and older. All children, regardless of age, must have a ticket to enter the auditorium and sit quietly in their own seats. No infants, please. Any ticketholder who creates a disturbance for other audience members may be asked to leave the auditorium.

Arrive Early and Avoid the Rush

Traffic and parking can be unpredictable, so plan to arrive at least 30 minutes before your performance. That should give you plenty of time to find your seat and have a look at your program before the curtain goes up. And, pre-performance people-watching is much more fun than a frantic last-minute dash to your seat.

Late Seating

We sympathize with latecomers but for the sake of the performers and other audience members there is no late seating while a work is in progress. Latecomers will be asked to stand until an appropriate break in the action which will likely be intermission.

No Photos or Videos

It's tempting to take a picture to share with a friend or record a video to post on social media, but we can't allow you to take photographs or recordings of the performance. Part of the joy of coming to the ballet is disconnecting from the outside world for a couple of hours. So, please silence and stow your mobile devices and enjoy the performance.

WE'RE SO GLAD YOU'RE JOINING US.

Please check your tickets and make sure they're exactly what you ordered. If not, please email us right away at tickets@sfballet.org or call 415 865 2000 Monday through Friday, 10 am to 4 pm. On performance days, phones are open from 10 am until the evening performance begins.

Bringing Children to the Ballet

A live ballet performance is most enjoyable for children eight and older. All children, regardless of age, must have a ticket to enter the auditorium and sit quietly in their own seats. No infants, please. Any ticketholder who creates a disturbance for other audience members may be asked to leave the auditorium.

Arrive Early and Avoid the Rush

Traffic and parking can be unpredictable, so plan to arrive at least 30 minutes before your performance. That should give you plenty of time to find your seat and have a look at your program before the curtain goes up. And, pre-performance people-watching is much more fun than a frantic last-minute dash to your seat.

Late Seating

We sympathize with latecomers but for the sake of the performers and other audience members there is no late seating while a work is in progress. Latecomers will be asked to stand until an appropriate break in the action which will likely be intermission.

No Photos or Videos

It's tempting to take a picture to share with a friend or record a video to post on social media, but we can't allow you to take photographs or recordings of the performance. Part of the joy of coming to the ballet is disconnecting from the outside world for a couple of hours. So, please silence and stow your mobile devices and enjoy the performance.
